Introduction

Tribes are a group of people having distinct language, culture, lifestyle and socio-economic condition and are living in a specific geographical area. Normally, the tribes reside in interior forests, remote and inaccessible areas or in the outskirts of forests and hilly regions. According to Article 180 of the Constitution, the Scheduled Tribes are the tribes or tribal communities or part of groups within these tribes and tribal communities, which have been declared as such by the President through a public notification. As per the 2011 Census, the Schedule Tribes account for 10.42 million representing 8.6 percent of the country's population. The tribes are characterized by distinct cultures, shyness of contact with other communities at large and economical backwardness.

Immediately after independence, Governments both at National and State level had given much attention for the development and welfare of the tribes and this has resulted in improving the living conditions of the tribes across the nation.

The tribes that reside in the remote corners of the nation do not have first hand information about what is happening elsewhere in the country. When they get sufficient information and opportunities to interact with their peer groups in other parts of the country, they develop national and emotional linkages. The tribal youth should be positively engaged and educated and for that youth exchange programmes is a step forward.

Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan organizes Tribal Youth Exchange Programme for the development of tribal youth with the support of Ministry of Home Affairs, Govt. of India. 6 Tribal Youth Exchange Programmes have so far been organized by Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan.

Immediately after independence, Governments both at National and State level have given much importance for the development and welfare of the tribes and this has resulted in improving the living conditions of the tribes across the nation. But the achievements comparing with the quantum of money spent and the time consumed, one may see that the achievements are not that expected. Illiteracy, unemployment, poverty and its related syndromes have forced the tribes to alienate themselves from the mainstream. Misinformation campaigns by the disruptive forces among the tribes have vitiated the situation further.

The tribes who are residing in the remote corners of the nation are not having first hand information about what is happening elsewhere in the country. If the student and youth communities are getting sufficient information and opportunities to interact with their peer groups in other parts of the nation, the extremist activities among them can be curtailed. In this context it is proposed that, the tribal youth should be positively engaged and educated and for that; tribal youth exchange programmes will be of great help.

It is worth appreciating the efforts of Government of India and involvement of Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan (NYKS) in successfully organizing Six Tribal Youth Exchange Programmes in a row which encourages proposing to organize the 7th Tribal Youth Exchange Programme for the tribal youths residing in districts included under the SRE Scheme of Ministry of Home Affairs with the following objectives:

Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan (NYKS)

The scheme of Nehru Yuva Kendra for each district in the country was started by Government of India in the year 1972 with the objective of providing rural youth avenues to take part in the process of nation building and opportunities for the development of their personality and skills. The core strength of NYKS is a net work of village level 2.73 Lakh Youth Clubs in different stages of their existence and consolidation with an enrolment of about 80 million volunteers in the age group of 13-35 years.
