 - ✓ Promotion of Cashless Transactions.

CONCEPT OF THE PROGRAMME

Unlike other parts of the country the North East India holds an important position from a strategic point of view as these states share their borders with other countries like Bangladesh, Nepal, Bhutan, Myanmar and China. The terrain, the state of Socio economic development and historical factors such as language/ethnicity, tribal rivalry, migration, control over local resources and a widespread feeling of exploitation and alienation have resulted in a fragile security situation in the North Eastern States. This has resulted in violence and diverse demands by various Indian Insurgent Groups (IIGs).

Ministry of Home Affairs is taking all possible steps to address the genuine demands of various ethnic groups for development and for autonomy in managing their affairs. While the infrastructural developments like road, rail link, power supply water supply etc. are dealt with by Ministry of Development of North Eastern Region and various other line Ministries, the issues relating to strengthening of security, rehabilitation of people affected by militancy, bringing underground outfits to the main-stream through negotiations, confidence building measures etc. are looked after by the North East Division, MHA. Diplomatic initiatives pertaining to security related issues with Bangladesh and Myanmar are also being taken to strengthen the security situation there.

Because of above mention facts the youth who are residing in North Eastern States should be given opportunities to see the important places of the country to understand socio-economic development, life style, culture, skill development initiatives, entrepreneurship development, self employment opportunities and information on Flagship programmes of Govt. of India like Start up India, Stand up India, Digital India, Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana, Programme of Social and Financial Inclusion. It is further stated that if the North East youth communities are getting sufficient information and opportunities to interact with their north east peer groups in other parts of the nation, the extremist activities among them can be curtailed and pace of development in the region will be accelerated with their participation. In this context this programme envisioned the positive engagement of North East Youth through North East Youth Exchange programme.

Ms. Jyoti Niswade highlighted the issues related to discrimination of women & gender injustice. She said that atrocities on women are inflicted by various means including social networking, facebook, whatsapp & other social media. The atrocities against women are increasing & there are various reasons for it. Socio-economic conditions, non-participation in political process and gender inequality and gender discrimination right from birth are the major causes. Even girl child is denied the right to born.

Ms. Jyoti highlighted that Constitution promotes gender equality & gender justice. Article 14 says there will be equality before law and equal protection of law. Article 15 prohibits gender discrimination. Various laws are there for the protection of women, including 'Protection of women from domestic violence'. Further she said that only legal protection is not enough for protecting women from atrocities. Social awareness is equally important. If we want that women should fill secure in family and society and to participate as equal human being in socio economic and political life there is a need to change the social mind set, for promotion of gender justice and gender equality.

Shri Sanjay Nakhate emphasised that Sankalp se Siddhi is not just another scheme of the government. It is in fact a commitment by each Indian, especially the youth to build a New India free from poverty, communalism, terrorism, corruption, illiteracy and unhygienic conditions. It has laid great stress on Agricultural development and Farmer's welfare. He further said that in order to build Dream India we should develop positive energy. Only if we actively involve ourselves in constructive work we can develop positive energy. He also emphasized on the importance of Yoga and meditation.

The interactive session was also organised in other issues like life and teachings of Gandhi ji and other leaders, build a New India free from poverty, Communalism, Terrorism, corruption, illiteracy, agriculture development, farmer's welfare and unhygienic habits, Understanding threats and challenges posed by insurgent group in North East, safety and securing of women, skill development and career guidance.

FEEDBACK OF THE PARTICIPANTS

- ❖ The participants felt that the major difference between North East and Mainland lies in its language, Life Style, Diet, Attire, Folk-Art etc. but few participants opined that the difference lies in the pace of development and the freedom that the youth enjoy in the mainland. Perhaps they meant the freedom with which the youth of the mainland participate in various social activities and development programmes.
- ❖ Participants claimed that they made many friends. In fact they said that all the participants have befriended with each another. They were excited to meet people from mainland.
- ❖ Participants who attended various sessions in the camp and interacted with the local youth found it very impressive that India has different tradition & costumes but there are commonalities in all practices. Participants found that the culture and traditions that we Indians follow is the most impressive aspect of India. That makes India Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat.
- ❖ All the participants found the field visits various important places were very enriching. The opportunities that the participants got to learn from one Another's language, costumes another dresses and appreciated one another's culture. The participants found that they were benefitted a lot by listening and interacting with various subject experts.
- ❖ Participants were excited to interact with the local youth and found it was very impressive that India has diverse traditional practices in different regions.
- ❖ Participant respondents felt that they would like to organize similar programmes in North Eastern States and invite youth from all the eight NE states. Then they can promote peace, friendship and fraternity. The participants said that they will make efforts to understand the problems and issues of youths of NE region and talk to the government about their needs only then can they develop the youth. 23.07% participants felt that they will try to equip the youth with good education, knowledge, right information and skills.
- ❖ The participants said that they will go back home and try to become Ambassadors of Peace and harmony.

- ❖ Participants also felt that they would like to organise similar programmes in their home district in order to promote peace, friendship and fraternity.
- ❖ The participants said that they would organize meetings in their youth clubs and disseminate all information and knowledge that they assimilated in the camp.
- ❖ The suggestions that the participants made for further improvement of this programme were as follows:-
 - More Interactive Session
 - Field Placement should be included
 - Sports & games should be included in the Programme
- ❖ The Overall impression about the programme was very positive, arrangements, programmes and activities. Field visits, interactions with youth and interaction with VIP's, was very good.

The dual objectives of this exchange programme are: To bring the youth of the North Eastern States into the National mainstream and to introduce the local youth to the rich culture of the North Eastern States and thus develop mutual respect and admiration. The inaugural function commenced with a welcome song by Tripura youth. After lighting the inaugural lamp and garlanding the portrait of Swami Vivekananda, Shri Sharad Salunke, Dist Youth Co-ordinator, Nehru Yuva Kendra Nagpur, gave a brief background of the programme. In 2016, the Ministry had piloted this programme in Nagpur and it is the good fortune of Nehru Yuva Kendra Nagpur that once again it has been awarded this programme. He assured the participants that all efforts will be made to make their stay as comfortable as possible and also to give them as much exposure as possible. Prof. Sole, in his inaugural speech spoke about the diverse culture of India. He said that in no country will you find all varied types of terrain, climate, weather, flora and fauna, like in India. We can see a mini India in our parliament where men and women in different traditional attires come together to discuss about the welfare and development of their Nation. India can boast of the youngest mountain range i.e. the Himalayas participating youth and asked them to learn as much as they can from this six day exchange programme. Shri. Kapil Adambani shared his earlier experience of Youth Exchange Programme and also his visit to Manipur where he experienced their kind hospitality. Dr. Devendra Mohture, Principal, Annasaheb Gundewar College, in his presidential address expressed his happiness in having this huge youth force from the North Eastern States of India in his Institution. He assured all co-operation and help required to make the programme a grand success. The audience enjoyed a musical treat in the form of some patriotic songs by participants from Tripura, Sikkim and Nagaland. The programme was very efficiently conducted by Shri Shivraj Kulkarni while Smt. Jyoti Mohite, Dist Youth Co-ordinator, Nehru Yuva Kendra Amravati proposed a formal vote of thanks. Staff and volunteers of Nehru Yuva Kendra strive hard for the success of the programme.
